Created to work alongside a collector's suite of George Nakashima furniture, the Yasui daybed takes its cues from Japanese sensibilities; it is unapologetically minimal yet striking in its affect. The use of natural live edge wood connects the user intimately with the original tree, and the result is a harmonious balance of rustic yet modern sculpture. Due to the wonderfully unique characteristics of material, these daybeds will vary slightly in shape and composition, allowing no two to be exactly alike. Signed and dated.

shapiro joyal studio furniture is made to age gracefully. All our lumber is carefully chosen, with grain clarity, strength and overall beauty at the forefront. Our designs stay intentionally quiet, working in tandem with beautiful materials to create a cohesive and timeless design. Woods will become enhanced with age, resulting in a rich patina that is treasured by collectors and easily recognizable as coming from a company that makes quality its priority.

Handmade in Los Angeles since 1998.
